A-1) Complete the sentences using the information given in the passage. 2

- 1) is an evergreen plant.
- 2) The teas we buy are usually classified according to.....
- 3) Tea plants require at least..... of rainfall a year.
- 4) These are called flushes.

Perhaps many of you have guessed the answer: the most popular beverage in the world is tea - the fresh, aromatic brew with which people like to begin their day. It has a refreshing, astringent flavour. It is actually made by brewing, that is by infusing in boiling water, the leaves and shoots of a plant whose botanical name is the Camellia sinensis. The leaves are at first dried, cured and processed before they are packed and sold to us.

Camellia sinensis is an evergreen plant that grows in tropical and sub-tropical climates. Tea plants require at least 140-125 cm of rainfall a year and prefer acidic soils. Many of the world's best tea estates are located on hill slopes at elevations of up to 1500 metres. It is said that the tea plants grow slowly and acquire a richer flavour at this height. When the plants mature, only the top 1-2 inches of the plant are picked. These buds and leaves are called flushes. A new flush appears on the plant every seven to ten days during the peak growing season. Left to grow on its own, the tea plant may actually grow into a small tree. But in all tea gardens, the plants are pruned and kept at a height of about three feet (waist high) to enable easy plucking of the leaves.

The teas we buy are usually classified according to their leaf size.

Accordingly, we have 1. Assam type of tea characterised by the largest leaves 2. China type, characterised by the smallest leaves, and 3. Cambod characterised by leaves of intermediate size.

A2) Complete the chart: (2)

SECTION IV: Non-Textual Passage - 15 marks

Q.4. (A) Read the passage carefully and complete the activities: (10)

A1-True or False: -

State whether the following sentences are True or False

- 1) A man having the habit of reading is very happy.
- 2) A man who does not read is really poor. -

3) Reading gives us the highest kind of pleasure.

4) Books are not our faithful friends.

A man, who has acquired the habit of reading is very happy. His mind is filled with knowledge, noble thoughts and high ideals. A man who does not read is really poor and his life is empty. If we are able to choose the right kind of books; reading gives us the highest kind of pleasure. We read some books like novels for more pleasure and amusement. When we are tired, such books give us healthy recreation. But we should not read books of fiction only. As we need wholesome food, so we need serious reading for the mind. We must develop a taste for books on history, philosophy, religion, travel, science and also books of poetry. Such books give pleasure and education. Books are the most faithful friends. They are always ready to help us and converse with us.

Date-2nd June, 2020.

My dear Anuja,

Hi! Anu, how are you? I received your letter yesterday. I became very happy to read that you stood first in 'State Level Elocution Competition'. I am preparing my annual examination. I miss you a lot.

Anu, I am writing this letter to you for a special purpose. I would like to inform you the importance of good health. I know that you always like to enjoy fast food. You always give preference to fast food. I would like to advise you to avoid fast food. As per doctor's advice fast foods are very difficult for digestion. They create many diseases in our body. However, they are not original and fresh, so they are unhealthy. Fast foods are prepared with the help of artificial ingredients. So fast foods are artificial foods. Because of all those practices they become the root cause of many diseases. So it is very essential for you to avoid fast food.

On the other hand, I would like to tell you about the importance of homemade or deshi food. You should enjoy the food cooked by our mother. It is good to buy local, seasonal as well as organic food. Please, follow these suggestions for your better health. I hope that you will inform these suggestions to your friends also.

Convey my best regards to parents and grandparents and love to little Sonu.

Yours lovingly,

Anand.

Good Morning respected principle, teachers and my dear friends. Today I am here to give a tribute to my favorite teacher.

Teachers are our second parents. They not only look after us but also seed knowledge and values in us. They teach us not only lessons of our book but also the lessons of our life. There are many teachers in our school. Some had already taught us and some are yet to come. With all my heart, I respect and like them equally. My favorite teacher is Mr. Ravi.

He is highly educated and gold medalist in Mumbai University. He teaches English in our school. His method of teaching is very simple, Because of his English teaching, my English is very strong now, and he always tries his level best to help his students. Every time he ensures that every student in the class do their best in English like in writing, grammar and communication skills. He is gentle but strict. When it comes to our homework, he make us feel that it is for our practice but not as a burden. Being our class teacher, he reports everything about us to our parents.
