A Teenager's Prayer

Each day brings new beginnings Decisions I must make.

I am the only one to choose The road that I will take.

I can choose to take the road of life
That leads to great success. Or travel down the darkened road That leads to great distress.
Please open up my eyes, dear Lord That I might clearly see Help me stand for what is right Bring out the best in me.
Help, Lord, to just say “no” When temptation comes my way That I might keep my body clean
And fit for life each day.
When my teenage years are over
I know that I will see
That life is lived its very best
With you walking next to me.

1. The mother looked into the writer's eyes and showed silent gratitude for saving her child.
2. After picking up her baby in her arms, the mother gave thorough body inspection and cuddled him tightly.
3. Then, she jumped with the baby in the direction opposite to the place of the violent encounter.
4. The mother pondered over and figured out how she could keep the baby safe from further assault.

Immediately, the mother descended on the floor of the coop and picked up the baby in her arms. She gave the baby a thorough body inspection to check his injuries and then cuddled him tightly in her bosom. The baby found great solace in her caring arms. The mother sat still with the baby in her lap for a few minutes. It was almost as if she was pondering over her options and trying to figure out how she could keep the baby safe from further assault.

For a few seconds, the mother langur looked straight into my eyes. Even today, I cannot forget that look in her eyes, showering silent gratitude on me for saving her child. I was overwhelmed by the emotion, the sentiment and the way she said thanks to me. There sat a universal mother holding a stricken child in her lap. Then, in a flash, she jumped with her baby clinging to her belly and reached our kitchen roof. She surveyed the area for the vicious male langur and then leapt away in the direction opposite to the place of the violent encounter. The brief meeting with the mother and the baby langur convinced me that interspecies communication and mutual trust is indeed a reality and should anyone strike the right chord, the relationship hums into action. The mother langur showed me that food was not the only means of communication between man and animal but that there were other means of establishing a bond through trust, compassion and mutual understanding.

A2. What did the mother langur seem to convey to the narrator? 2 A3. Match the following :

ANSWERS

1. Basketful of Moonlight

Q. 1.

A1. (i) The child wants to sow small moons of light from the city to his village.

1. The child's father goes back to work early in the morning when he is in sleep.

A2. The road from the city to the village is dangerous because it is tough and full of snakes and scorpions. Not a bus or cart runs on the road. And the whole village goes to the city to work by the same road. And when they come back it becomes dark on their way back. So it's dangerous for them.

A3. (i) seeds – weeds (ii) tough – rough Q.

1. Appreciation of the poem :

1. Title : The title of the poem is 'Basketful of Moonlight.'
2. Poet : The poet's name is Sunil Sharma.
3. Rhyme scheme : There is no rhyme scheme in the poem. This poem is in 'free verse.'
4. Figures of Speech : Repetition, alliteration and apostrophe.
5. Theme / Central Idea : The central idea of the poem is the loneliness of a child in a remote village untouched by modern amenities. The child is too far from the modern urban life that even his remedy for the plight of his village seems quite innocent and plain.

Q. 2. Read the following passage and do the activities

: (10 Marks) A1. Choose the correct alternative and write them down : 2 (i) What is unrealistic?

(a) To become an expert in short time (b) To get success in short time (c) To set our goal.

1. When does goal lack realism?

(a) If we are aggressive (b) If we are defensive (c) If we are pessimistic.

1. What do establishing time parameters around each goal help us? (a) Reduce weight (b) Increase focus and accountability (c) Increase self-confidence. (iv) What is life compared with?

1. Time (b) Trumpet (c) Problem.

Realistic : It is important to create goals that are within one's current skill set or area of expertise. Building expertise takes time, so expecting to become an expert in a short amount of time is unrealistic. Being realistic will make it easy to be successful at attaining goals. If defensive and not aggressive, the goal perhaps lacks realism. We must have the clear picture in mind and must have the ability to adhere to that picture.

Time-bound : Establish time parameters around each goal, as it will help increase focus and accountability. To reduce weight we know how to go about it. But without consistent time-bound action, it never becomes a reality. It may be exercise, diet and stress-free thoughts.

All these have to be practised and implemented without hesitation, doubt or indifference, but within a deadline. Visions, wishes, intentions and dreams are all valuable. They spark off imagination and encourage us to define where we want to reach. In order to get there, however, we need to bring life images, down to earth and plan to execute our strategies. The quality and quantity of energy we put forth, directly impact the results. Life is something like a trumpet. If we don't put anything in, we can't get anything out.

Success is a walk in the dark. Finding the right footing, precisely mastering the skills and getting to the next place, all depend on how we approach and tackle the problem. The best way to get from where we are, to where we want to be is to find the footing of our next step. When we take the next step, it should support and hold us without a crack.

A2. Complete the following sentences : 2

1. The goals that we are going to create should be or
2. ..... spark of our imagination and encourage us to

A2. Complete the following: 2

The young seagull had seen the following things from his ledge. (i)

(ii)

(iv)

That was twenty-four hours ago. Since then nobody had come near him. The day before, all day long, he had watched his parents flying about with his brothers and sister, perfecting them in the art of flight, teaching them how to skim the waves and how to dive for fish. He had, in fact, seen his older brother catch his first herring and devour it, standing on a rock, while his parents circled around raising a proud cackle. And all the morning the whole family had walked about on the big plateau midway down the opposite cliff taunting him for his cowardice.

The young seagull was alone on his ledge. His two brothers and his sister had already flown away the day before. He had been afraid to fly with them. Somehow when he had taken a little run forward to the brink of the ledge and attempted to flap his wings he became afraid. The great expanse of sea stretched down beneath, and it was such a long way down - miles down. He felt certain that his wings would never support him; so he bent his head and ran away back to the little hole under the ledge where he slept at night. Even when each of his brothers and his little sister, whose wings were far shorter than his own, ran to the brink, flapped their wings, and flew away, he failed to muster up courage to take that plunge which appeared to him so desperate. His father and mother had come around calling to him shrilly, upbraiding him, threatening to let him starve on his ledge unless he flew away. But for the life of him he could not move.

Men stood in groups at street corners discussing the situation. Pipalnagar seldom had a crisis, seldom or never had floods, earthquakes or drought; and the imminent crash of the Pipalnagar Bank set everyone talking and speculating and rushing about in a frenzy. Some boasted of their farsightedness, congratulating themselves on having already taken out their money, or on never having put any in; others speculated on the reasons for the crash, putting it all down to excesses indulged in by Seth Govind Ram. The Seth had fled the State, said one. He had fled the country, said another. He was hiding in Pipalnagar, said a third. He had hanged himself from the tamarind tree, said a fourth, and had been found that morning by the sweeper-boy.

By noon, the small bank had gone through all; its ready cash, and the harassed manager was in a dilemma. Emergency funds could only be obtained from another bank some thirty miles distant, and he wasn't sure he could persuade the crowd to wait until then. And there was no way of contacting Seth Govind Ram on his houseboat in Kashmir.

People were turned back from the counters and told to return the following day. They did not like the sound of that. And so they gathered outside, on the steps of the bank shouting 'Give us our money or we'll break in!' and

'Fetch the Seth, we know he's hiding in a safe deposit locker!' Mischief makers who didn't have a paisa in the bank, joined the crowd and aggravated their mood. The manager stood at the door and tried to placate them. He declared that the bank had plenty of money but no immediate means of collecting it; he urged them to go home and come back the next day.

Mumbai : After, bomb blast, terrorist attack, floods, landslides, electrocution came the cruellest cut of all – a stampede sparked by rumours later. Thursday night killed 18 people, including 7 children, at Nehru Nagar slums in Juhu.

The rumours which began circulating around 10 pm that a tsunami had struck, brought thousands of people out onto streets near Mithibai college. While running out for life 18 people were killed including seven children, who were taken to Nanavati Hospital but declared dead. The rumours allegedly spread by anti-social elements led to a panic situation, compounded by the fact that the area was in complete darkness.

Repeated police announcement that there was no cause for worry failed to cut ice.

On the contrary, the rumours gained credence in the sea level rose due to a high tide. 40 others were rushed to Cooper and Nanavati Hospitals. The chief minister of the state expressed his concern and sorrow about the incident.

The Twins

In form and feature, face and limb, I grew so like my brother,

That folks got taking me for him, And each for one another. It puzzled all our kith and kin, It reached a fearful pitch. For one of us was born a twin, Yet not a soul knew which.

One day, to make the matter worse, Before our names were fixed,

As we were being washed by nurse, We got completely mixed ;

And thus, you see, by fate's decree. Or rather nurse's whim.

My brother John got christened me, And I got christened him.

This fatal likeness even dogged My footsteps, when at school, And I was always getting flogged, For John turned out a fool.

I put this question, fruitlessly, To everyone I knew,

Read the paragraph on 'Food' and draw a tree diagram to show the benefits of food

Food

We are what we eat. Everyday we eat different types of Food. Food is necessary for us to survive. We have to maintain our health. So food is necessary. There are two types of food, veg. and non-veg. For good health vegetarian food is always good. It does not create stress and is easy to digest. Non-veg food is not easy to digest and produces stress. Food helps to maintain our health, repair the body and create blood in our body. It also gives energy to do our daily activities.

We should be very careful about our choice of food and about time. We should not prefer junk food it creates many problems. We should also be careful about food intake. We should also be very careful about cooking food. Food is necessary for our growth but overeating may cause problems to our health. So we should eat to live and not live to eat.

Significance of the book... 'Swami and Friends' by R. K. Narayan is not merely an interesting read that could be enjoyed from top to bottom, but the work attributes a lot of literary values even if it is a teen book.

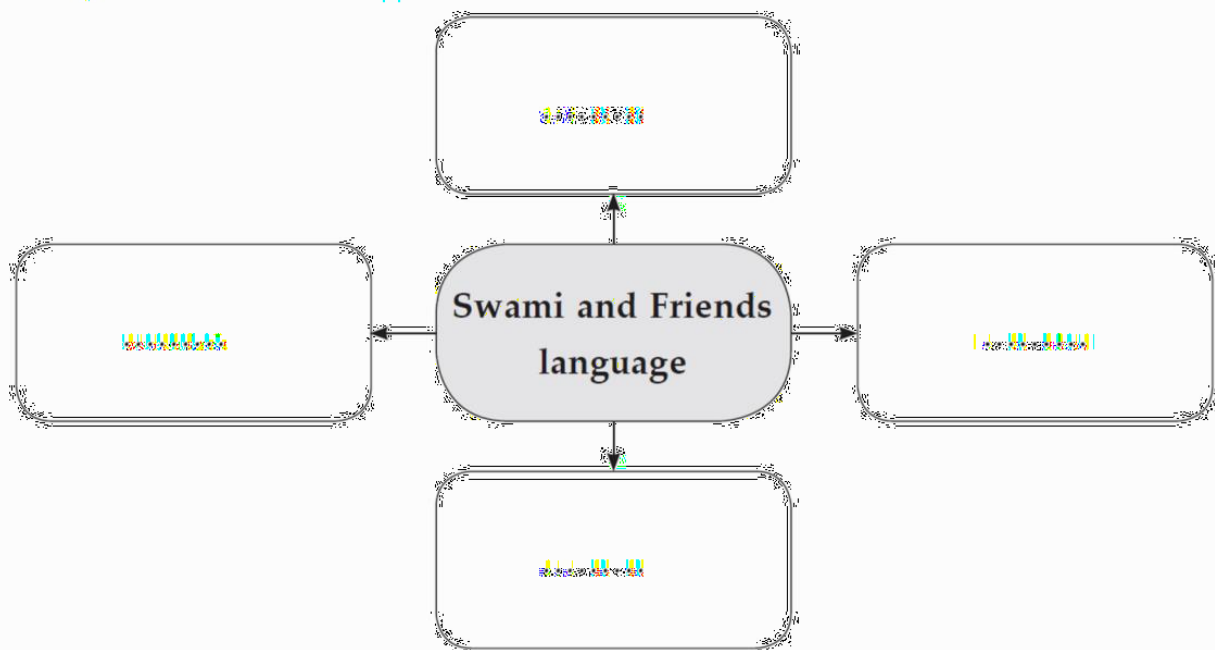

'Swami and Friends' is a good read for the kids and teens alike. Also the book is widely used in the Asian continent as a study text for the students who study literature as a subject at schools. This does not mean that the book is filled with heavy grammar and technical jargon. Actually the truth is in contrary to this.

'Swami and Friends' is written in such simple English. It is hard imagine that it is a work of such a literary genius like R. K. Narayan. The English used in the book is both plain simple, without any troubling words for the kids. Also the use of simple and short sentences adds to the simplicity of the book.

It is mentioned in the description that the book is about a mischievous ten year-old Indian boy, and some parents may be concerned about the influence this will have on their already mischievous children. But the book is as such, that it encompasses the mischief of the kids in a view of the kid which is harmless and pure in his perspective. Also amidst all the mischief and naughtiness, we actually find that Swami is a loving and a tender kid who's actually very sensitive. It is also a known fact that mischievous kids are the most sensitive and loving people of all. And R. K. Narayan does a great job conveying that to all of us. So in conclusion it can be said that this book is a good read for child of all ages, who may just enjoy a good read or who may want to improve their English skills.

(iv) A White House Conference (d) Protection of temples and artifacts

Although the idea of protecting cultural and natural heritage sites around the world began in the early twentieth century, momentum for its actual creation was not until the 1950s. In 1954, Egypt started plans to build the Aswan High Dam to collect and control water from the Nile River. The initial plan for the dam's construction would have flooded the valley containing the Abu Simbel Temples and scores of ancient Egyptian artifacts. To protect the temples and artifacts, UNESCO launched an international campaign in 1959 that called for the dismantling and movement of the temples to higher ground. The project cost an estimated US $80 million, $40 million of which came from 50 different countries. Because of the project's success, UNESCO and the International Council on Monuments and Sites initiated a draft convention to create an international organization responsible for protecting cultural heritage.

Shortly thereafter in 1965, a White House Conference in the United States called for a “World Heritage Trust” to protect historic cultural sites but to also protect the world’s significant natural and scenic sites. Finally, in 1968, the International Union for Conservation of Nature developed similar goals and presented them at the United Nations conference on Human Environment in Stockholm, Sweden in 1972. Following the presentation of these goals, the Convention concerning the Protection of World Cultural and Natural Heritage was adopted by UNESCO’s General Conference on November 16, 1972.

If you can keep your head when all about you Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;

If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you, But make allowance for their doubting too;
If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,

Or, being lied about, don’t deal in lies,

Or being hated, don’t give way to hating,

And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;

If you can dream and not make dreams your master; If you can think and not make thoughts, your aim;

If you can meet with Triumph and Disaster

And treat those two imposters just the same; If you can bear to hear the truth, you've spoken, Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools, Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,

And stoop and build 'em up with worn-out tools : If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue, Or walk with Kings, nor lose the common touch; If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,

If all men count with you, but none too much; If you can fill the unforgiving minute

With sixty seconds' worth of distance run, Yours is the Earth and everything that's in it, And which is more you'll be a Man, my son!

2. The things that the writer used to give to beggar everyday -

'Then what's the secret of your energy?' I asked, like Tendulkar does in the advertisement.

She smiled, 'A beggar changed my life.'

I was absolutely dumbfounded and she could see it.

'Yes, a beggar,' she repeated, as if to reassure me. 'He was old and used to stay in front of my house with his five-year-old granddaughter. As you know, I was a chronic pessimist. I used to give my leftovers to this beggar every day. I never spoke to him. Nor did he speak to me. One monsoon day, I looked out of my bedroom window and started cursing the rain. I don't know why I did that because I wasn't even getting wet. That day I couldn't give the beggar and his granddaughter their daily quota of leftovers. They went hungry, I am sure.

'However, what I saw from my window surprised me. The beggar and the young girl were playing on the road because there was no traffic. They were laughing, clapping and screaming joyously, as if they were in paradise. Hunger and rain did not matter. They were totally drenched and totally happy. I envied their zest for life.'

'That scene forced me to look at my own life. I realized I had so many comforts, none of which they had. But they had the most important of all assets, one which I lacked. They knew how to be happy with life as it was. I felt ashamed of myself. I even started to make a list of what I had and what I did not have. I found I had more to be grateful for than most people could imagine.

That day, I decided to change my attitude towards life, using the beggar as my role model.'

3. is greater violence according to Kailash Satyarthi.
4. The writer is sharing

I have come here only to share the voices and dreams of our children - because they are all our children - [gesture to everyone in the audience.] I have looked into their frightened and exhausted eyes. I have held their injured bodies and felt their broken spirits.

Twenty years ago, in the foothills of the Himalayas, I met a small, skinny child labourer. He asked me: "is the world so poor that it cannot give me a toy and a book, instead of forcing me to take a gun or a tool?" I met with a Sudanese child-soldier. He was kidnapped by an extremist militia. As his first training lesson, he was forced to kill his friends and family. He asked me: "What is my fault?"

Friends, all the great religions teach us to care for our children. Jesus said: "Let the children come to me; do not hinder them, for the kingdom of God belongs to them." The Holy Quran says: "Kill not your children because of poverty."

Friends! There is no greater violence than to deny the dreams of our children. Therefore.... I refuse to accept that all the temples and mosques and churches and prayer houses have no place for the dreams of our children.

what is good and what is bad and what are our rights. It builds confidence and develops the personality of every child so no single child should be kept away from education.

Q. 3. India of My Dream

Honourable chairperson, respected judges and teachers and all my dear friends. Today I am going to express my opinion on 'India of My Dream.' I hope you will listen to me carefully. I dream of India where education is given to all free of cost. So everyone would be employed, satisfied and happy. Being an agricultural country, there should be respect for farmers and the soldiers who protect the borders. The development of any country depends upon the advancements in Science and Technology. I hope India will fulfil the dream of our former President Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam by 2020. India lacks good transportation facilities in some of the areas. I wish every village should be connected with city by roadways and railways. There should be good transportation facilities through waterways also as nature has bestowed a good sea shore to the country. The government should work to reduce terrorism, to bring peace on the borders, should develop brotherhood among the neighbouring countries. There should not be crime and everyone should respect women in society. The people should have care and love for nature. They should plant more trees and protect forests to avoid future dangers. There should be gender equality in the country. Every woman should be given the opportunity to work where the man works. I think if the government works for it, definitely the country will be a developed one. Government should also adopt certain policies to reduce population so everyone will enjoy the fruits of freedom. If it happens, I think India would not be less than heaven on the Earth. Thank you very much for listening carefully and attentively and I hope you all will try your level best to make India a number one country in the world. Jai Hind.

(i) A rocky beach	(a) there is always an opening
(ii) Small bits of grass	(b) are colossal and we are so small
(iii) A hibiscus plant	(c) the spread of majestic ocean
(iv) Our problems	(d) live your life to its fullest

We have a hibiscus plant in our garden. Every fortnight a flower blooms on it - big, bright and tender. Through the day it smiles with the sun and dances with the wind, but as evening approaches, it starts wilting. The morning after, it withers completely and by evening it falls and becomes one with the earth again. The flower comes to life only for a day, yet it does so in full splendour. What if we too lived our life, however short, to its fullest?

We went to a rocky beach and saw the spread of the majestic ocean and the rocks alongside, carved, sculpted and shaped by the water. Water is so gentle, rock so hard, yet, as the water flows over it every day, for years, the rock gives in. It takes the shape that the water commands. Our problems are so colossal and we are so small, yet if we persist...

We saw small bits of grass peeping through the small cracks in a concrete pavement. It left us thinking: however impossible things may look, there is always an opening...

We are blessed with a wonderful life, which is a gift of God. We get it once in a lifetime. So whatever our lifespan is - whether it is short or long, we should enjoy it to its fullest.

We should enjoy every moment of our life happily and with positive state of mind. This is what we learn from the hibiscus plant.

Q. 3. Role of Nature in our Life

Nature plays very important role in surviving and thriving for the human being. Every need of human being is fulfilled by the natural world around us. Food, water, medicines, material for shelter and even natural resources are very much important for the human being. He fulfils everything from the nature around him.

Nature is the sole supplier to fulfil the basic needs of the human being. Food, shelter and even clothing are the essential things which directly or indirectly come from nature.

Nature is the house of birds and animals which entertain the human being and increase the beauty of nature. If the nature is harmed, the birds and animals will be reduced and it will disturb the food chain.

We learn a lot of things from nature. So in the real sense nature is a good teacher.

We should respect it. It cleans the air; and maintains the proper proportion of CO₂ and O₂ so that human being can survive very well, healthy life. Nature is a God given gift to us. It is everything that God put on this earth. Nature is the key to the survival of the entire human race. So we should not spoil it. Whereas it is also our duty to protect the natural world around us for our future.

It's nice to talk with folks like you. You see, I'm blind

O God forgive me when I whine

I have two eyes, the world is mine

Later walking down the street, I saw a child with eyes of blue

He stood and watched the others play; it seemed he knew not what to do

I stopped a moment, then I said, why don't you join the others dear"

He looked ahead without a word, and then I knew he could not hear

O God forgive me when I whine

I have two ears, the world is mine

With legs to take me where I'll go With eyes to see the sunset's glow

With ears to hear what I would know O God forgive me when I whine

I'm blessed, indeed, the world is mine

A3. aa, bb, cc, dd.

Q. 2. Appreciation of the poem:

1. Title: The title of the poem is “The World is Mine”.
2. Poet: This poem is written by the poetess Joy Lovelet Crawford.
3. Rhyme scheme: Rhyming scheme of the first and last stanza is same aabcc.

Second stanza aabbccdd, third stanza aa, bb, cc, forth stanza aabcc. (4)Figure of Speech: Apostrophe.

1. Theme / Central Idea: The Central Idea of the poem is that you must count your blessings (= to be grateful for the good things in your life) rather than complain about the things which you think, you lack. When you are thankful to God for all the good things you are endowed with, then the world and its joys are yours. Then you cherish the things which you often take for granted and find no reason for complaining.

Q. 3. Indeed incredible!

Sameer was very, clever, kind and co-operative. He was handicapped by his left leg. When he was only four-year-old he was down with polio. Now he is studying in Std. X. He is really good in swimming. He used to go for swimming in the river at his village. But he had never taken part in any swimming competition.

It was his school picnic and Sameer was a part of it. It was nearby a dam. And all his friends were enjoying the picnic. They were playing cricket, football, enjoying meals, etc. But Sameer was sitting under a tree as he could not do anything with them. The teachers were also roaming nearby. While playing one of the football players kicked high and the ball went straight into the dam. Two boys from his class ran towards the ball and jumped in the dam. They could not get the depth of water and started drowning. They started crying and shouting. They caught each other in fear. Now everyone was on the bank. The teachers came there. But nobody had courage to jump in. Suddenly Sameer gathered courage and jumped in. Everyone was surprised but to everyone's surprise, he reached the boys. He held the collar of one of the boys and started pulling towards the edge. The boys were long enough to bring them easily. But he gathered all his strength and brought them to the bank safe and sound.

Everyone disbelieved his capability. The teachers and all his schoolmates thanked him for such bravery. The Headmaster suggested his name for the Bravery award. And he won the same, the next year. Now he is the recipient of The Bravery award of the Government of India. It is true, unbelievable but incredible!

Bishamber Nath was a well-to-do grocer. He came with a big party of friends and relations with him for the wedding. A brass band playing a popular tune from an Indian film headed the procession, with the bridegroom riding a decorated horse. Ramlal was overjoyed to see such pomp and splendour. He had never dreamt that his fourth daughter would have such a grand wedding. Bholi's elder sisters who had come for the occasion were envious of her luck.

When the auspicious moment came the priest said, "Bring the bride". Bholi, clad in a red silken bridal dress, was led to bride's place near the sacred fire.

"Garland the bride," one of his friends prompted Bishamber Nath. The bridegroom lifted the garland of yellow marigolds. A woman slipped back the silken veil from the bride's face. Bishamber took a quick glance. The garland remained poised in his hands. The bride slowly pulled down the veil over her face. "Have you seen her?" said Bishamber to the friend next to him.

"She has pockmarks on her face." "So what? You are not young either."

"Maybe. But if I am to marry her, her father must give me five thousand rupees."

Ramlal went and placed his turban- his honour- at Bishamber's feet. "Do not humiliate me so. Take two thousand rupees."

"No. Five thousand, or we go back. Keep your daughter." "Be a little considerate, please. If you go back, I can never show my face in the village."

"Then out with five thousand."

Tears streaming down his face, Ramlal went in, opened the safe and counted out the notes. He placed the bundle at the bridegroom's feet.

I have taken as a proof. I will try my level best to give punishment to the person who takes dowry.

Q. 3. Nothing can be done without hope and confidence

Confidence is the foundation stone for success. We can achieve anything if we believe in ourselves. When we believe in ourselves, we are able to make others believe in us. But if we doubt ourselves, nobody will believe in us and we will never achieve success in our life. Being confident gives us positive vibes even in negative or difficult situations. When we are confident, we are fully focused and determined in our goals realizations. Hope is also one of the most important mental traits in life.

Hopeful people are able to face even the most negative times with a positive attitude. Hope is not blindly expecting every positive thing to fall into your lap. Hope reduces feelings of helplessness, boosts happiness, reduces stress and improves quality of life. If hope and confidence are combined together, nothing will be impossible to achieve. Hope is being able to see that there is light despite all the darkness. If we combine both one can easily achieve success in his life. So it is well said, "Nothing can be done without hope and confidence."

Bhavesh Sane,

At Post Talegaon, Tal. - Maval, Dist. - Pune. 20th December, 2019

Dear Nilesh,

I was extremely sorry to hear about the loss of your father. I could not believe it at first but I confirmed it with one of your relatives. Uncle was really a funloving person and I always appreciate his sense of humour. He was always good and kind with me whenever I visited your place.

But now all of these are memories. I know it is a great loss to your family.

Being the elder son you have to shoulder your responsibility now. Then only Savita auntie will come out of this trauma. Be brave and face this situation positively. I pray God to keep uncle's heart in peace and harmony. Take care of Savita auntie, and little Ravi. We will meet soon. I am always with you at such a moment.

Your loving friend, Bhavesh Sane

Q. 3. The Indian Soldier

The person who is known for his sense of duty and dedication is the soldier. He is a true patriot, always prepared to lay down his life in the service of his motherland. He has to undergo a rigorous training before taking his job as a regular soldier, so he is mentally and physically prepared to guard the borders of the country. He is well built, strong, fit and loyal to his country.

He knows that his job is to obey the orders of the superiors and not to question their decisions. He is brave and courageous. It would not be wrong to say that there would be no India without the Indian Army and Indian soldier. He is the backbone of the country.

Soldiers are the real heroes of the nation. They serve the country selflessly and are always ready to sacrifice for the sake of their country and countrymen.

The life of soldiers is tough. They have to face several challenges. They stay away from their families. And also away from all the luxuries of life. They face each challenge with a smile. We are really lucky to live in a peaceful environment and concentrate on our personal lives only because soldiers are guarding our country round the clock. They ensure a peaceful environment in the country at all times. Thus, they possess all the qualities of a real hero.

So we should respect our Indian soldiers.

1. Discovery of Curies. (i)

(ii).....

The benefits of radium in the world of medicine are incalculable. It has been used with great effect in the treatment of cancer. The bacteria of such diseases as typhus, cholera and anthrax can also be killed by radium.

In 1903, the Curies along with Henry Becquerel, were awarded the Nobel Prize for physics for the discovery of Radium and Polonium. They wished, they could have patented their discovery and become rich, but this noble woman refused to do so and gave it free to the world to be used properly.

In 1906, Pierre was knocked down and killed by a horse-drawn wagon. Marie clung to his lifeless body and remained disconsolate.

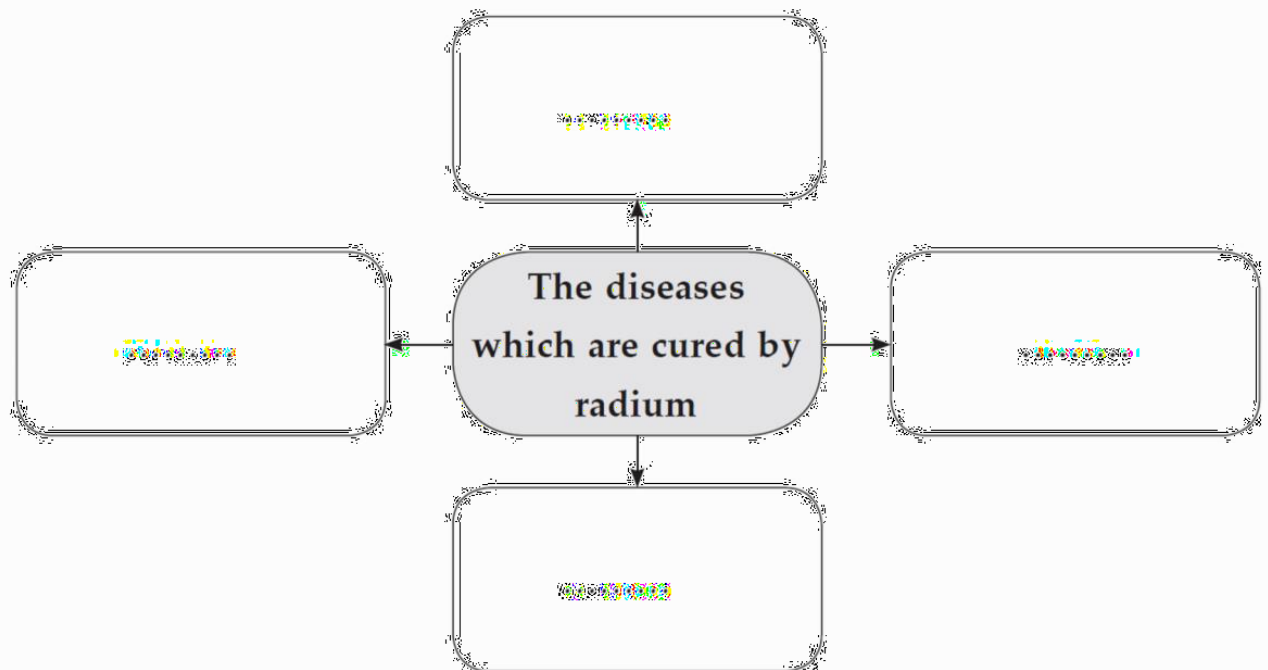

In 1911, Marie was awarded the Nobel Prize for the second time and this was for Chemistry. Madame Curie remained comparatively poor and when asked why she did not make money by her discoveries, she replied, "I am working for science.

Radium belongs to the people, not to me."

In 1934, the health of Marie Curie failed and in the July of that year this great scientist, who had given her life for the cause of science and humanity, died. In every great man and woman there is a compulsive desire to discover the truth. Madame Curie, who pursued her life's goal with great courage, endurance, dedication and strength of character, is a living example of this statement.

A5. Science has led us to finding out things that give us what we have today.

In fact we would not have electricity and there would not be industrial progress. We wouldn't have mobiles, internet, television, refrigerators to complete our day to day needs. So without science progress in 21st century is impossible.

Q. 3. 'Hardwork is the key to success

Any kind of achievement in life is impossible without hard work so it is called the most important key to success. An idle person can never gain anything if he sits and waits for the better opportunity to come. The person who works hard with passion, dedication is able to gain the success and happiness in life. The chances of your success increases significantly when you refuse to accept the defeat and make determined efforts in accomplishing your goal.

Students cannot excel in the exam without trials and practice, an employee cannot climb the corporate ladder without hard work. A businessman, a surgeon, a lawyer, a teacher everyone will be able to achieve their goal only if they work hard. Edison who worked 21 hours a day sleep only for 2 or 3 hours. Mahatma Gandhi worked ceaselessly day and night for the freedom of our country. So it is their hard work that paid for success in their life.

Greatness can be achieved by great labour only. Success comes only to those who do not step backward because of the fear of the hard work that they have to put in it.

Idleness is a curse which hinders everyone's step towards their goal. A lot of efforts and endurance is needed to realize the desired outcome. Hardworking person accomplishes his aim in life. In all of our endeavours, hard work will really pay off so it is well said 'hard work is the key to success.
