Q. 1. Read the following passage and do the activities:

A1. Simple Factual Activities:

Say whether the following statements are True or False:

- (1) Mathilde was married to a big officer at the Ministry of Education.
- (2) Mathilde's former schoolmate was very rich.
- (3) Mathilde had rich dresses, jewels and everything that she loved.
- (4) Mathilde was happy with the invitation brought by her husband.

Mathilde was a pretty and charming girl, born, as if by an error of fate, into a family of clerks. She had no means of becoming known, understood, loved or be wedded to an aristocrat; and so she let herself be married to a minor official at the Ministry of Education. She dressed plainly, because she had never been able to afford anything better. She suffered endlessly, feeling she was entitled to all the luxuries of life. She suffered because of her shabby, poorly furnished house. All these things, that another woman of her class would not even have noticed, tormented her and made her resentful. She dreamed of a grand, palatial mansion, with vast rooms and inviting smaller rooms, perfumed for afternoon chats with close friends. Yet, she had no rich dresses, no jewels, nothing; and these were the only things she loved. She wanted so much to charm, to be envied, to be sought after.

She had a rich friend, a former schoolmate at the convent, whom she avoided visiting, because afterwards she would weep with regret, despair and misery. One evening her husband came home with an air of triumph, holding a large envelope in his hand. "Look," he said, "here's something for you." She tore open the paper and drew out a card, on which was printed the words: "The Minister of Education and Mme. Georges Rampouneau request the pleasure of M. and Mme. Loisel's company at the Ministry, on the evening of Monday, January 18th."

Instead of being delighted, as her husband had hoped, she threw the invitation on the table resentfully, and muttered, "What do you want me to do with that? And what do you expect me to wear if I go?"

Mark Twain was the pen name of Samuel Langhorne Clemens, a popular American writer. He was famous for his humorous stories, novels, and other writings. His quick wit was evident in his everyday conversations, and many anecdotes related to Mark Twain are still told and enjoyed today. Besides being a humorous writer, he was a great defender of human values like liberty, equality, and fraternity. Mark Twain opposed wars and imperialism, and supported the rights of laborers and black people in America. Below are some anecdotes from his life and quotations from his speeches and writings.

One day during a lecture tour, Mark Twain entered a local barber shop for a shave. Twain told the barber that this was his first visit to the town. The barber said, "You've chosen a good time to come. Mark Twain is going to lecture here tonight. You'll want to go, I suppose?" Twain replied, "I guess so." The barber then asked, "Have you bought your ticket yet?" Twain responded, "No, not yet." The barber said, "Well, it's sold out, so you'll have to stand." Twain sighed and said, "Just my luck. I always have to stand when that fellow lectures!"

Fast as a spaceship,
slow as a snail,
Big as a dinosaur,
small as a nail,
Fierce as a tiger,
gentle as a lamb.
Sour as a lemon,
sweet as jam.
Dry as the desert,
wet as the sea.
Square as a house,
round as a pea.
Cool as a cave,
warm as toast,
Noisy as a road drill,
quiet as a ghost.

Strong as an ox,
weak as kitten.
Hard as a rock,
soft as a mitten.
Dark as a tunnel,
light as the moon,
Night time midnight,
day time noon.
Tall as a giant,
short as an elf.
Crooked as a mountain path,
straight as a shelf...
The world is full of opposites,
so think of some yourself !
